

arvato digital services wins contract with 20th Century Fox

<- Back to: News

09-09-2008

By: Simone Biermann

Guetersloh, September 9, 2008 -- arvato digital services, a global provider of integrated service packages in the video, audio, games and IT/high-tech sectors, today announced it has signed a long-term exclusive supply chain contract to provide manufacturing and distribution services to Twentieth Century Fox in Spain.

The contract represents a very important solution for the arvato group as this is their first exclusive fully integrated supply chain solution for Twentieth Century Fox.

“As one of the world only suppliers capable of offering the video industry a global supply chain solution for both physical and digital assets, arvato are proud to be working with a company as prestigious as Twentieth Century Fox” said Hans Peter Hülskötter, CEO arvato digital services worldwide. Adding “we hope this will be an excellent opportunity for arvato to demonstrate our standards and abilities leading to further business with Twentieth Century Fox on a global scale”.

"We at Fox are looking forward to establishing a strong relationship with arvato to ensure we offer our rental and retail customers in Spain a 1st class supply chain service", added Duncan Newman Managing Director Twentieth Century Fox Spain.

About arvato digital services:

arvato digital services provides a comprehensive range of services and solutions to its business partners in the IT/high-tech, games, video, and audio sectors. 8,000 employees deliver top quality to our customers worldwide – and have done so for exactly 50 years. Our global footprint includes 18 countries on five continents.

arvato digital services is a leading provider of integrated solutions that include every step of the value chain, from post-production, replication, fulfillment and distribution/supply chain management, to financial services, and electronic software distribution. This entire process chain is supported by end-to-end IT systems. Our solutions create value for our customers and ensure that they are well-equipped for the challenges of their markets.

Together with arvato print, arvato systems and arvato services, we are a part of arvato AG, the internationally networked media and communication service provider. arvato AG is a division of Bertelsmann AG, headquartered in Gütersloh, Germany.

